

Jul 28, 2008 10:31 am US/Eastern

DVRPC: Rediscover Philly's Classic Towns

PHILADELPHIA (CBS 3) — The Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission (DVRPC) along with city leaders and tourism officials aimed to revitalize the region Tuesday by launching a new program entitled 'Classic Towns of Greater Philadelphia.'

The new initiative aims to grow and support some of the region's older suburbs and urban communities by focusing on their positive features such as accessibility to public transportation and strong sense of community.

Pennsylvania's inaugural 'Classic Towns' include Ambler, Bristol Borough, Doylestown Borough, Lansdowne, Media and West Chester. Philadelphia neighborhoods include Manayunk and Overbrook Farms. Collingswood, Haddon Heights and Riverton were among the towns selected out of New Jersey.

(© MMVIII, CBS Broadcasting Inc. All Rights Reserved.)